

U.S. Interagency Council on Homelessness

Together, we are ending homelessness.

The United States Interagency Council on Homelessness leads the national efforts to prevent and end homelessness in America. USICH drives action among its 19 federal member agencies and fosters outcome-driven relationships at every level of government and with the private sector. Through our direct support to leaders, such as governors, mayors, and other local officials, we empower communities to end homelessness once and for all.

USICH was originally authorized by Title II of the landmark Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act of 1987 (PL 100-77) to serve as an independent establishment within the executive branch. The agency was most recently reauthorized by the Homeless Emergency Assistance and Rapid Transition to Housing (HEARTH) Act of 2009. Our current sunset date is October 1, 2017.

Interagency Leadership and Collaboration

Our Council includes the heads of our 19 federal member agencies. A Chair and Vice Chair are elected annually from among the members. The Secretary of Health and Human Services served as our immediate past Chair, with the Secretary of Education serving as Vice Chair.

Our Council meets four times a year to advance federal collaboration and state and local coordination. In between Council meetings, USICH convenes and provides expert guidance at a host of federal, state, and local meetings focused on identifying and implementing high-impact strategies to achieve the goals of the federal strategic plan to prevent and end homelessness.

Opening Doors: Federal Strategic Plan to Prevent and End Homelessness

On June 22, 2010, USICH released Opening Doors, the first-ever comprehensive national plan to prevent and end homelessness. The plan has four ambitious goals:

- Prevent and end homelessness among Veterans in 2015
- Finish the job of ending chronic homelessness in 2017
- Prevent and end homelessness for families, youth, and children in 2020
- Set a path to ending all types of homelessness

Through the urgent action created by Opening Doors, we've reduced overall homelessness by 14% nationwide between 2010 and 2016. Homelessness among Veterans has been reduced by 47%, including a 57% decrease in unsheltered homelessness among Veterans. Chronic homelessness has been reduced 27%. And we've reduced family homelessness by 23%, including a 65% drop in unsheltered homelessness among families.

More than 35 communities, and the entire states of Virginia, Connecticut, and Delaware, have also ended homelessness among Veterans. Communities all across America now have the proof that ending homelessness is possible and the strategies to make it happen.
